

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS FOR REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL FOR AGMV SCENARIO PRESENTATION AND PUBLIC POLLING WEBSITE (12/19/17)

Question	Response
Questions about the nature of scenarios.	CARPC is currently developing the scenarios. Generally they will include one or more maps, narrative, data and survey questions
"CARPC will provide scenario content information, including text and map graphics." In what format will map and content graphics be provided?	Maps will likely be provided in PDF although other formats are possible. We can provide graphics in PDF, Illustrator, EPS, Photoshop, PNG, JPG, or other formats in which Adobe products can export. Format of any specific graphics will depend on its intended size, resolution, use, and other design parameters.
Will the provided content include performance measures for each scenario?	Yes.
What is the intended user workflow? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Can users answer just a few questions about just one Scenario? • Or do users need to answer all questions but can do it about only one Scenario? • Or must user's complete the entire Survey - all questions for all Scenarios? Will each scenario have its own unique Questions?	We are still developing the scenarios. As scenarios become more fully developed (approximately by end of January) we will start preparing survey questions. We have not yet addressed the question of whether users will be required to answer all, or portions of, questions. Whether responses to questions are required or not will depend to some degree on the nature of the questions and the trade-off between numbers of surveys generated and completeness of responses.
Will only one large survey be run using this website or one survey for each scenario?	The website will present each scenario. There will be questions for each scenario and overall questions regarding comparisons and/or preferences between the scenarios.
Are survey questions based on a specific scenario, or are they the same questions between scenarios?	It will likely be a mixture of the two. Since the scenarios are currently being developed, we do not know yet what the questions will be.
Are surveys integrated with the scenarios themselves (i.e. questions come up with the content of the scenario), or are they a separate part of the website where users can go to provide feedback on each of the scenarios?	Integrated with the scenarios.
What format will the survey questions take? Multiple choice radio buttons? Drop down menus? Fill in the blanks? Will there be pictures to select from or only text?	Survey format will be developed with the selected vendor.
Will the survey include chained, or "if-then" questions, where the answer to one question affects which questions will follow, or other interactive elements?	At this point we don't anticipate chained or if-then questions or other interactive elements that affect future questions, but it is conceivable that such options may make sense as the project progresses.

How complex are these surveys going to be? Question number, different question conditionals, and are they going to be performing segmentation based on answers given for specific demographics?	We do not yet know the exact number of questions because the scenarios are still being developed. What we can say is that there will be at least three, and as many as five, scenarios. For each scenario there will be a number of questions. Again, the exact number is not known but an initial estimate is between five and ten. We are not anticipating conditionals at this time, but those types of questions may emerge as useful during the development process. Responses to questions will be segmented by approximately five demographic and five geographic categories.
Questions about the number and type of categories into which survey responses will be divided.	Approximately five demographic and five geographic categories.
Is it necessary that CARPC staff be able to add / edit survey questions themselves?	CARPC can rely on the contracted firm to add/edit questions as long as the firm is responsive to requests.
I am confused by: “Describe how the survey will be developed to ask questions that integrate with the scenario polling website.” What does it mean to “be developed to ask questions that integrate with the scenario polling website”?	This is asking generally how the vendor will ensure that survey questions and website content work together as seamlessly as possible.
What type of summary reports does the site need to generate during and after the survey period?	Totals of votes for each question along with breakdowns by demographic and geographic categories.
Questions about the survey reports that will be generated.	Data will be pulled and input into third party software rather than run through website directly.
Are the surveys public in that anyone going to the site can complete one, or are they available only to people in which they are sent to?	Public.
Other than surveys and scenarios, and possibly some marketing content, is there any other types of content that you’re wanting to display on this site?	Yes. We will generate estimates of a variety of impacts for each scenario using modeling software. The data should be presented in user-friendly formats that allows users to readily grasp the key impacts (transportation, fiscal, environmental, health, economic, other).
Will CARPC provide the content for the various languages or will translation be expected to be done by the selected firm?	CARPC will provide content for the languages. However, if a bidding firm provides translation services, we are interested in considering those services as an option.
What dialect of the Hmong language? Hmong Daw (White Miao) or Hmong Njua (Green Miao)?	Likely Hmong Daw (White).
Which level of conformance for WCAG 2.0 are you looking for? Are there any specific tools or technologies you’re targeting with accessibility?	We are looking for conformance with the DOJ, which uses WCAG 2.0 Level AA as the accepted standards in which to judge a website’s accessibility.

To clarify the timeline: The survey will go live on April 30th and then the code will be frozen with only minor fixes after that? Then the survey ends and the website will come down on July 27th?	Correct, except that the survey would close at the end of June, with analysis of responses and maintenance of the website for information purposes until July 27.
Will the website maintenance and support end promptly on July 27th?	The contractor's responsibility for maintenance and support will end at the end of the term of the contract to be negotiated. At that point CARPC could take over maintenance and support, if feasible, or the website could be shut down.
What will happen to the website after the survey closes? Will it simply be taken down and never used again?	The website may be left live for a period of time after the survey closes for informational purposes.
Which hosting company will be used? This can influence our ability to provide a backend.	A2 Hosting.
"CARPC will register the domain name and prefers to use its hosting company." Would we have admin access to a dedicated virtual server to set up software?	Currently CARPC does not use a dedicated server through our hosting company A2Hosting. We invite the respondent to review A2Hosting's server options on www.a2hosting.com .
Should surveys be completely anonymous with no back data to reveal identity?	Yes.
What demographics and other personal information will need to be collected?	Approximately five demographic categories (e.g. age, race/ethnicity, gender, education, other?) and five geographic categories (e.g. City of Madison, small city, village/urban town, rural town, County).
Will this collected information have any special handling or storage requirements?	Not that we are aware of.
Will the general public be able to see the survey results in progress? Or only staff?	At this point we are thinking that the public will not be able to see the results in progress.
Regarding the deliverables what format is expected for: a. Project management plan. Bullets? Spreadsheet? A series of Charts? b. Website map. A pdf or other picture format showing the Site Map? c. Website analytics reports. What format will the data be presented? pdf? .csv? d. What is meant by "raw data form?" .csv? e. Are Google Analytics regarding website visits desired?	a. A spreadsheet and bullets would be acceptable. b. This would be acceptable. c. PDF is acceptable. d. CSV would be acceptable. e. Yes, although if it requires significant additional costs we may reconsider that

f. Website maintenance and support services. A pdf document with written description of the services to be provided?	desire. f. That would be acceptable.

SECTION B: PROJECT INFORMATION

1. BACKGROUND AND PROJECT DESCRIPTION

A Greater Madison Vision (AGMV) is a public-private initiative with a goal to produce an actionable and compelling vision and plan for growth and development for the next 30 years in the Greater Madison Region, defined as Dane County and those parts of the surrounding counties that share common regional economic, transportation, and natural resource connections. AGMV is led by a 46-member Steering Committee comprised of people from a wide variety of businesses, organizations, governments, interests, and institutions who represent a cross-section of the region. Support is provided by the staff and commissioners of the Capital Area Regional Planning Commission, a public agency representing municipalities in Dane County and focused on collaborative land use and environmental planning.

Since September 2015, the AGMV Steering Committee and CARPC staff have commissioned a values survey, built organizational capacity, partnered with local communities and other regional organizations, and conducted stakeholder and community outreach and engagement. Steering Committee members, stakeholders, and staff have used these sources of information to begin to create a set of exploratory scenarios of future growth that embody different values, priorities, and challenges.

AGMV seeks to engage residents from across the Greater Madison Region in a scenario voting exercise on an interactive website platform that will generate at least 10,000 completed surveys. CARPC seeks a website designer with experience in public engagement for planning initiatives to build and maintain a website to convey various elements of a series of regional development scenarios to the public and enable a large-scale public voting exercise on these scenarios. The target audience is a geographically and demographically representative sample of the region. The audience’s choices in the survey will inform the plan, as well as the recommendations and implementation strategies that result.

2. PROCURING AND CONTRACTING AGENCY AND PROJECT OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE

- 2.1 This RFP is issued by, and the contract resulting from this RFP will be administered by, CARPC.
- 2.2 The proposer’s work may be directed by a project oversight committee consisting of staff from CARPC and/or other local agencies and organizations. The exact make-up of the project oversight committee, if formed, is expected to be determined before the contract start date.

SECTION D: SCOPE OF WORK

1. INTRODUCTION

The following is an overview of the proposed scope of work. The scope includes both general and specific descriptions of tasks which proposers should build on, adding or altering tasks as deemed appropriate, and proposing more detailed subtasks. The proposer should feel free to propose alternative methods and techniques, where appropriate.

At a minimum, the proposer must propose a scope of work describing individual work tasks, and summarizing the work products and deliverables associated with each task. The proposer should follow the format described herein, to the greatest extent possible. However, the proposer should also feel free to demonstrate their unique abilities, creativity, and/or experience to perform the various work tasks. Further, the proposer may wish to expand upon certain work tasks and identify additional deliverables, showing how such alternative approaches would be beneficial to the project.

Describe the website technology that will be used. CARPC will register the domain name and prefers to use its hosting company. Describe how the proposer will work with CARPC in an iterative process to review and provide feedback on options and drafts. The website should be intuitive, engaging, and informative; providing quick access to summary information with the option of exploring scenarios in more detail. The proposer will work with CARPC to design survey questions that generate data that will enable the AGMV Steering Committee to determine regional preferences for different aspects of each scenario. Describe how the website will enable survey results to be generated in raw data form, and in summary reports during and after the survey is open. Describe how survey results will be available by demographic and geographic breakdowns. Describe how the survey instrument will address the potential for multiple survey completions by individual people. The AGMV Steering Committee and CARPC will be responsible for marketing the scenario survey and driving people to the website.

This does not apply to proposal prices. Prices are always open. Other information usually cannot be kept confidential unless it is a trade secret. Trade secret is defined in Wis. Stat. § 134.90(1)(c), as follows: "Trade secret" means information, including a formula, pattern, compilation, program, device, method, technique, or process to which all the following apply: 1) The information derives independent economic value, actual or potential, from not being generally known to, and not being readily ascertainable by proper means by, other persons who can obtain economic value from its disclosure or use; and 2) The information is the subject of efforts to maintain its secrecy that are reasonable under the circumstances.

Failure to include this form in the proposal response may mean that all information provided as part of the proposal response will be open to examination and copying. Other markings of confidential in the proposal document will be considered to be insufficient.

The undersigned agrees to hold CARPC harmless for any damages arising out of the release of any material unless it is specifically identified above or if it is released by an entity other than CARPC. In the event the designation of confidentiality of this information is challenged, the undersigned also agrees to provide legal counsel or other necessary assistance to defend the designation of confidentiality.
